

WASHINGTON—Today, U.S. Representative Mike Quigley (IL-05) hosted a briefing for Capitol Hill staff about the importance of Title X family planning programs with the National Family Planning and Reproductive Health Association (NFPRHA) and the Planned Parenthood Federation of America. The briefing highlighted family planning's role in the lives of women, as well as how Title X saves the federal government money and reduces abortions.

“No matter where you fall on the political spectrum, everyone should support family planning,” said Quigley. □ “It’s vital to women’s health, saves money, and reduces abortions.”

Reproductive rights are a fundamental part of family planning. It is important to ensure that all people have access to the information and services they need to make informed decisions about their reproductive health. The National Family Planning & Reproductive Health Association is committed to advocating for reproductive rights and providing support to individuals and communities. We believe that everyone has the right to decide if, when, and how they have children, and we will continue to work to protect and promote these rights.